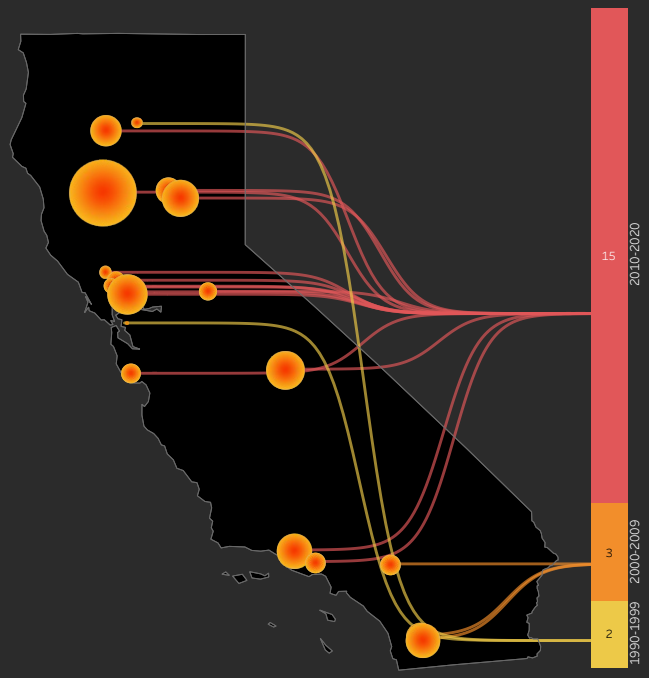
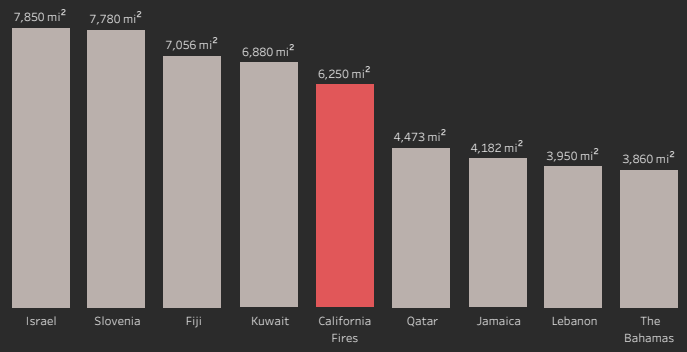
Top 20 Most Destructive Wild Fires in California



California has been devastated by seasonal wild fires that can hit as late as November. It seems like every year California has a record breaking wildfire. The top 15 out of 20 most destructive wildfires have been in last decade and 5 of them in 2020. Multiple studies have found a connection between rising temperatures and the severity of wildfires, but other research suggests other factors also are at play, such as land management. The U.S. Department of Agriculture, the Forest Service, said that the estimate cost of fire in 2020 is around $10 billion, making it the most expensive fire season on record.

Comparing area destroyed by California Fires with size of comparable countries



Data Source: fire.ca.gov, wikipedia.

Author: Ninad Rao